

CONJUNCTIONS

When we write or say something
And we want to add more
We can use the word "and"
Yeah that's what it's for Like "We went to the park...
AND we had so much fun"
It takes two thoughts
And connects them into one (into one)

There's a whole group of words like this
And they have a special name
They're all different little words
But their function is the same

Let's hear it for conjunctions
They're like glue
They help words and sentences
stick together, it's true
You can make a story flow
With "and" and "but" and "so"
If you have more than one thing to say
Maybe join them together
'Cause it might sound better that way
You'll need a conjunction though
Like "or", "because", or "both"

If there's something to contrast
Then but is the key
Like "I wanted a snack...
BUT the fridge was empty"

Then there's because
When you need to explain
Like "I took an umbrella...
BECAUSE it was gonna rain" (gonna rain)

There's still a lot more words like these Do you remember their special name?
(Conjunctions!)
Each one has its own purpose
But their job is still the same

Let's hear it for conjunctions
They're like glue
They help words and sentences
stick together, it's true
You can make a story flow
With "and" and "but" and "so"
If you have more than one thing to say
Maybe join them together
'Cause it might sound better that way
You'll need a conjunction though
Like "or", "because", or "both"

...

Let's hear it for conjunctions
They're like glue
They help words and sentences
stick together, it's true
You can make a story flow
With "and" and "but" and "so"
If you have more than one thing to say
Maybe join them together
'Cause it might sound better that way
You'll need a conjunction though
Like "or", "because", or "both"