What is an Inference?

When you make an inference, you combine what you already know with what you read or see in order to make an informed guess.

I know… + I read… = I can infer…