

Nouns

Hey, stop!
And take a look around the room
I bet there's a lot of things that you can see sitting around you There's this thing, and that thing go ahead write them all down You might not know it but you just made a list of nouns

Chorus:

A noun is a person, a place or a thing Like your grandma or a cousin, a school, or a ring
It's a proper noun if it's a name
Like Benjamin or Claire Otherwise it's a common noun
Like envelope or chair

Nouns, nouns, nouns, nouns, nouns, nouns, nouns
Nouns, nouns, nouns, nouns, nouns, nouns, nouns

A common noun can be a word for a person like "friend"
But if you use your friend's name like "Jane" it's a proper noun instead And in that case (in that—in that case) don't forget to use a capital J A proper noun starts with a capital that's just the proper way

A common noun can be a word for a place like the "zoo"
no need for a capital unless you wanna use the name of a location
"The San Diego Zoo" needs capitalization

A noun can be a word for a thing like a "boat"
It's just a common noun so no capital Unless you're talking about the Mayflower then... don't forget the capital M

Chorus:

A noun is a person, a place or a thing
Like a chef, or a painter, a house, or a string
It's a proper noun if it's a name like Dallas or New York
Otherwise it's a common noun
like octopus or fork

Nouns, nouns, nouns, nouns, nouns, nouns, nouns
Nouns, nouns, nouns, nouns, nouns, nouns, nouns

Chorus:

A noun is a person, a place or a thing
Like an astronaut or a sailor, a mall, or a swing
It's a proper noun if it's a name like Chick-fil-A or Lowe's
Otherwise it's a common noun
like basketball or nose
