Point of View

When you read a story or some kind or directive It's got to be told from somebody's perspective
And that perspective's what we call the point of view
There are three kinds so let me count them out to you like...

First person, a story told with
"I", and "me", and "my"
Second person,
these are the "you" and "your" kind
Third person,
uses "he" or "she" or "they"
These are the points of view that a story can take
Point of view, point of view
It's where the story's coming from
Point of view, point of view
The difference between "them" and "us"
Point of view, point of view
What's the point of view?
Point of view, point of view
Is it "I" or "he" or "she" or "you"?

If I said, "I walked my dog"
That's first person
If I said, "You should call your mom"
That's second person
If I said, "He threw the ball"
That's third person
And now you know them all Count 'em out like…

First person, a story told with
"I", and "me", and "my"
Second person,
these are the "you" and "your" kind
Third person,
uses "he" or "she" or "they"

These are the points of view that a story can take
Point of view, point of view
It's where the story's coming from
Point of view, point of view
The difference between "them" and "us"
Point of view, point of view
What's the point of view?
Point of view, point of view
Is it "I" or "he" or "she" or "you"?

First person, a story told with
"I", and "me", and "my"
Second person,
these are the "you" and "your" kind
Third person,
