

PREPOSITIONS

There's a sneaky little cat,
and he's always on the go Popping up in places high and low To talk about where,
we need the right word
A word that shows
where something occurred That's called a preposition, let's come back to that But first thing's first Hey, where is that cat?

He's OVER, UNDER,
AROUND the chair
BESIDE the box or IN the air
BEHIND the couch or BY the tree Prepositions help describe where things can be Prepositions –
They tell you how
something relates to something else
Prepositions –
Like the plant NEAR the door or the book ON the shelf
Prepositions

Now prepositions don't just tell you where They show when it happens and how you get there They help describe
both time and motion
Like "during the game"
or "across the ocean"
The cat's gone again
where could he be?
When did he leave,
and how did he flee?

Was it AFTER lunch?
BEFORE the show?
TOWARD the park?
Which way did he go?
ACROSS the street?
AT one or two?
The right prepositions
might give us a clue
Prepositions –
They tell you how
something relates to something else
Prepositions –
Like a show AFTER school that you watch BY yourself
Prepositions

...

We looked all around,
and guess what we found – That silly cat is safe and sound!

He's UNDER the bed,
SINCE half-past three
He went THROUGH the yard and UP the tree
He's IN the house,
he's not gone at all This preposition mystery is solved!
