

TEXT EVIDENCE

Let's read a little piece of text about giraffes
We'll learn a lot
Giraffes are really tall animals
that are covered in beautiful spots
They use their great, long necks
to munch on leaves in big, tall trees
They'll reach out with their long, black tongue
if you offer them a treat!

That was fun to read
But now it's question time
What's one thing you can tell me about what giraffes look like?

(Their necks are really long.)
Oh, really?

Show me the evidence
So you're telling me that
giraffes have really long necks
Show me the evidence
Say, if you don't mind...
Where did you find that in the text?
Show me the evidence
What if I'm skeptical?
What if I don't believe you? What should we do?
There's an easy way to prove
that you're correct
Show me the evidence

Where is it?
Oh
Oh, it's right there.
Ok, you're right.

When you sit down and read, you put
new information in your brain
But when answering questions
about what you read,
you gotta back up what you say
How do I know it's true?
And how do you know your memory is right?
We gotta look back through the text
and find some evidence to verify

If you read a book
That was all about bats
I might ask you to share with us
An interesting fact...

(A bat can eat over 1,000 insects in one hour.)
Wait, for real?

Show me the evidence
So in only one hour, a bat can eat
a thousand insects?
Show me the evidence
Come on, no way,
where does it say that in the text?
Show me the evidence
What if I'm skeptical?
What if I don't believe you? What should we do?
There's an easy way to prove
that you're correct
Show me the evidence

Alright, I gotta see this, where does it say that?
Oh, wow, ok...wool!

Show me the evidence
So you're telling me that
He got it from his best friend Rex?
Wait, are you sure?
Where did it say that in the text?
What if I'm skeptical?
What if I don't believe you? What should we do?
There's an easy way to prove
That you're correct
Show me the evidence

(It's right there!)
Oh! Yup, you got me.
Right again.
Of course.
